Star Provisions is going from cheese to chocolate.

The gourmet market on Atlanta's west side is holding its first-ever Chocolate Week beginning Dec. 8, and plans to make it an annual event.

The event, which is free to attend, is modeled after Star Provisions' Cheese Week, which it has done for the past three years.

Chocolate Week, which is actually three days from Dec. 8-10, will feature four chocolate producers from around the world. Members of the public can enjoy chocolate tastings from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day of the event.
